A one-cent reduction in the county's tax on gasoline, effective June 1, was ordered by the board of supervisors at a short session Monday.

The cut reduces to two cents the local gas tax. Local service station operators several weeks ago urged the supervisors to take two cents off the tax to put them on a competitive basis with Louisiana, arguing the increased sales volume would tend to provide the same amount of tax money or more.

Hold wife in shooting, probe to by children

Mrs. Jean Frances Poole, 29, is being held without bond in Hancock County jail in connection with the shooting of her husband, Phillip Poole, 41, at around 11:30 a.m. Monday at their Old Lower Bay Roadhome.

Poole who was struck in the upper left chest by a single 38 calibre bullet, which also passed through his left wrist was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for surgery after receiving emergency treatment at Hancock General Hospital and was reported to be improving Wednesday. After being shot just outside of the house, he got into his automobile and drove to the Mississippi weighing scales, a distance of roughly half a mile and was taken to the hospital by three bystanders. The couple, who came here from Pine Bluff, Ark., have three girls, ages, 11, 6 and 3 and one boy 7. He is employed by Leavell Construction Co. at Mississippi Test Operations. Mrs. Poole surrendered to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner volun-

Grand jury views care complaints

Medical treatment for emergency cases at Hancock General Hospital, establishment of a county farm, new Courthouse and shifting office space in the existing Courthouse were among matters considered by the May grand jury which presented its findings to Judge Leslie Grant Wednesday afternoon. The jury of which Thomas Gonzales was foreman said it investigated complaints that patients had failed to receive treatment at the hospital in emergency cases and found no fault on the part of the hospital, nurses or any personnel controlled by the hospital, finding rather that the hospital did its utmost to handle the cases.

"We want the general public to understand that the hospital has no authority to require any doctor to furnish services, nor does the law require that any question of whether or not he answers a call is a matter controlled by the ethics and rules of the profession of medicine," the grand jury report declared. Proposal of Hospital Trustee J.K. Duckworth for a county farm as an aid to control juvenile delinquency and to ease crowding in the county jail was endorsed. Jurors suggested a new courthouse be erected on 16th Section land away from Bay St. Louis with the county home and proposed county farm be similarly located.

They recommend that to relieve crowding in the chancery clerk's office, which now also quarters the circuit clerk, the board of supervisors move the superintendent of education to the second floor space; adjoining the courtroom now used by the Red Cross. This would pro-

Expansion begins for TG&Y store

Construction started this week on an addition to T. G. and Y.'s store in the Bay St. Louis Shopping Center, on Blue Meadow Road which will almost double its size. The addition, 60 by 105 feet, will give the store 13,650 square feet of building area.

With its expanded area T. G, and Y, plans to change its local merchandising from the variety store type to a family store operation.

The new construction, for which H. Mortimer Favrot, jr., New Orleans, is architect, will be masonry and designed to match the existing structure. Richard B. Cheek, Inc., Baton Rouge, is contractor.

Leasing arrangements for the expanded area, involving additional rental of approximately $145,000, were handled by Johness Realty Co., Inc., New Orleans developers.

Too important to give up now

Good schools are about the most important assets of any area, and their physical plants contribute much to excellence though we still think the teacher is the cornerstone. Good schools, and ours are not the best, are a particular need of Hancock County.

It is not just that it would be fine if our children were better educated. That nicety is true everywhere. From a dollar and cents standpoint we have more to gain than most counties and cities. That is what Dr. Wernher von Braun and Capt. William C. Fortune pointed out to reporters at Mississippi Test Operations last week and their comments were volunteered.

The extent that local people will profit jobwise by virtue of MTO's location in Hancock County is dependent directly on the quality of their education, and the latter begins here. Both men emphasized that if we want for our children the well paying skilled and professional jobs at MTO we must see to it that they are well educated for "the space age, not cotton picking".

It was a blow, but not necessarily fatal, when the county's $375,000 school bond issue failed earlier this month. At best its passage would have provided a minimum good physical structure and at least minimum facilities for the Pearlington area. Pearlington particularly and lower Beat 5 supported the bond issue, while Beats 4 and 3 went strongly against it. Nevertheless it lost only 486 to 415. Even with the 60 per cent requirement this means that a switch of only 55 votes and it would have passed, and we think at least that many of the Beat 3 and 4 voters might change their minds given another chance and with a little encouragement from the teachers at North Central, their supervisors and their school board members.

Much of the vote in these two northern beats obviously stemmed from the shortsighted view expressed by the wartime Marine expression "we're aboard pull up the ladder". But they aren't that much aboard. North Central is satisfactory for now but it will be crowded soon and if it is to prepare its students for work at MTO it already could stand some physical addition. Even with state aid when they want that the voters in Beat 1 and 5 will have some-duty. thing to say.

Much of the other up-county negative vote, we believe, stemmed from "politics" of the dog and the manger variety from the influence of so-called political figures who want credit for this county's progress but don't happen to hold office right now.

Anyhow the bond issue failed, the Pearlington area supported it the most (it had the most to lose) and the school board has now decided to use the money received from Uncle Sam for the old Logtown school for an addition to the Gulfview school, probably with a view to some future South Central consolidated school.

The long range view of a high school in the Lakeshore-Pearlington area but not Lakeshore makes a lot of sense, but the piecemeal addition to Gulfview at the expense of Pearlington doesn't.

It is true that the $150,000 or so the county system will receive for the Logtown school is not sufficient to give Pearlington what it really needs, but it could give it as much or more than it now has. It is true that Logtown wasn't crowded like Gulfview was this last year, but a lot of families had to move from the area because of MTO's acquisition of that corner of our county. In the long run, and it's really a short long run, Pearlington is destined, we think, to outgrow Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor.

We hope the trustees will reverse themselves: that they will call for tanother bond election and this time we hope the trustees and sup visors from all beats, particularly 3 and 4, will actively work for its passage. At best most of them sat on their hands

And let's go at least second class instead of riding the caboose. And that, we think, takes more than the $375,000 sought May 2.

The Mississippi Legislature POLITICOS SPEAK BY RAIPH SOWELL JR.

If you're tired of hearing repeatedly of the problems facing the Mississippi Legislature, we are too. This report is not a repeat, but it may sound like the column of the last four weeks, because the problems of finances, highway patrol, sales tax, and teacher pay bill were again the key issues in last week's legislature.

And some say that the solons are no nearer a final decision on several of the matters, Even though many of the legislators have been ready to go home for a couple of weeks, the clouds have not cleared to make way for passage of the necessary

This week's action should see discussion on the controversfal half-centincrease in the sales tax; Although passed by the House on a close vote, the Senate finance committee passed it by a mere 8-7 vote and faces opposition from Senators who oppose a tax on all the people. If the Senate makes amendments to the bill, it is doubtful, too, that the liouse would again pass the bill.

Another measure which will merit discussion will be a bill to permit the state to give financial support to private institutions in the face of threatened school integration. Waveland newcomers got their first sample of what weekends are going to be like from now until Labor Day last Samrday morning. . , and old timers, including those who persist in saying 'nothing'll come of it' regarding the test site, reluctantly admitted that Coleman Avenue had the appearance of an over crowded real city street. The double population explosion was noticeable in the Bay, but more so in Waveland as most activity is limited to the main thoroughfarel Both municipal piers were crowded with early swimmers. . . some slightly blue as the breeze still had a bit of a chill in it, but apparently enjoying themselves none the less! There were even a few tourists in evidence. . .

it's easy to tell a tourist from a summer resident, . .our summer people look just about like everyone else. . .they even wear dresses or in the case of males, slacks on occasion, but a tourist, never! The plumper he or she happens to be the briefer the garb and the more colorful, and they invariably wear some novel type of headgear, large dark glasses and the inevitable camera strap appears to grow from one shoulder. The above information, will we hope, be of help to new residents by eliminating the shock the first time one of these post card 'toting' furriners heaves

Letters from all over

As the weather gets warmer, so do some of our formerly lax correspondents. A note from Hazel (Mrs. Charles A.) Dahlin infroms us that a barbecue scheduled to be held at her Waveland summer home Saturday has been postponed until September due to conflicting engagements. Fel (Mrs. Hoyt) Holland also writes that although she's adjusted to living in the Crescent City, she still misses all of her Bay friends terribly. Cards from Beze and Jean Charbonnet from just about every glamorous city in Europe attest to the fact that they're having a sensational time. . hope they'll get home sometime soon as we're informed by the gentleman who's keeping an eye on their home during their absence that birds have nested in the mail boxi

Battlers of the bulge

The first Wednesday in June has been definitely set for the Battlers of the Bulge initial meeting with 2 p.m. as the tentative time. If there's a change we'll let you know next week. The funniest part about this organization is that all prospective memhers are dieting like mad so they won't be too fat to reduce. Pat Pitalo, Gladys Prosser and Pat Fayard have shed pounds. . .in fact they now have Carl Arnold, not dieting, but at least weighing on their scales! Maybe the men will follow suit with a club of their own! We won't mention names, but there are a few around town including the better (?) half who would profit by just such an organization.

Aileen and Charles Gottschalk have good reason to be proud of their oldest daughter Sheila. She is now finishing her junior year in pre-med at Loyola and was awarded the highest grant for summer study given by the research department of the New Orleans Cancer Association, It's for specific scientific study... we read the letter, but still don't know what all the technical terms meant.

Evelyn (Mrs. Charles) Cox entertained a group of Chartres Street neighbors at coffee last Thursday.

Shades of Friday, the 13th

Speaking of last Thursday, Mary Lou Kleinhans has decided that it just wasn't her day. Things started going wrong when husband Clair developed pneamonia, En route to Hancock General she dropped her two youngest children off at Terri Dettloff's: while waiting for Clair to get admitted she was startled to see Terri come in with her little daughter, Karen who had come out second best in an encounter with a sharp toothed dachshund and four stitches were required to close the wound in her armi So we'll send Clair and Karen combined get well wishes and enclose a tranquilizer for Mary Lou.

Lakeshore gardeners hold their annual May luncheon and hat show at noon today, Thursday, at the Pines Restaurant. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Donnelly of New Haven, Conn., are guests of Mr. Donnelly's uncle, Ray Gordon and Mrs. Gordon.

Hancock GeneralOpen house

Two beautifully appointed tables were in evidence when the pink ladies of Hancock General Hospital entertained at open house last Friday. Some of those serving punch and mints looking much too pretty to eat included Mrs. Leo Seal, Mrs. William Sattler, Mrs. Ben Hille, Mrs. Evelyn Ortte, Belle (Mrs. Clem) Penrose, Bess Wagner and Pat Viguerie. This preceeded dedication of the new heliport which had to be rushed so much due to the fact that Captain Fortune had another engagement that Tom Logue almost forgot to present visiting dignitaries the engraved surgical scissors which he had thoughtfully ordered as souvenirs! In fact the ceremony was over when it occurred to someone that the ribbon hadn't as yet been

PLEASING EVERYBODY...

We strive to please our customers, our employees, directors, officers, stockholders, bondholders, neighbors and public officials, which isn't easy.

The philosopher Æsop, 2,500 years ago, knew how hard it is to please everybody. He put the problem into a fable of the miller and his son, who drove their donkey to a neighboring fair to sell him.

"Look at the fools," a group of girls commented, "walking when they could be riding." So to please the girls, the son rode. Presently, they passed a gathering of old men, one of whom said, "See the young rogue riding, and the old man walking, with no respect for age."

To please the old men, the son dismounted and the father rode. They then met a company of women who asked: "How can you ride the beast and let that poor little fellow walk?"

So, to please the women, the father and the son both rode. As they were approaching town, a passerby, feeling sorry for the donkey because of the weight he carried, said, "You two are more able to carry the donkey than he is to carry you." So, to please the man, they tied the donkey's legs together and, much to the amusement of the crowd, carried him on a pole.

Realizing the absurdity of the situation, the miller dumped his burden into the creek with the sage observation, "Please all and you please none."

Unlike the unhappy miller and his son, we shoulder our load cheerfully. Though we can't please everybody, we are deeply grateful for our many satisfied customers - our greatest asset.

BILL COLMER'S LEADERSHIP

The dedicated, skillful leadership of Judge Howard Smith of Virginia and Bill Colmer of Mississippi, chairman and vice-chairman of the Committee on Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, is hailed (see the letter reproduced below) by fellow congressmen representing ten Southern states.

EDWIN E. WILLIS THIRD DISTRICT, LOUISIAN Congress of the United States MEMBER, COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY House of Representatives CHAIRMAN, SUBCOMMITTEE TO STUD DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COUR Washington, B. C. CHAIRMAN, SUBCOMMITTER ON OPERATION OF TIDELANDS

February 15, 1964

CHAIRMAN, COMMITTEE ON UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES Honorable Bill Colmer

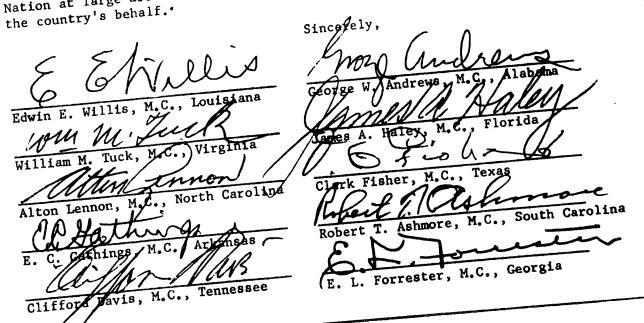

Chairman of the Southern Caucus Honorable Howard Smith Chairman of the House Rules Committee

United States House of Representatives Washington, D. C.

Dear Friends:

Now that the battle over the Civil Rights Bill has been transferred temporarily to the Senate, we, Members of the Southern Group in the House, desire to record our sincere appreciation for the able leadership you furnished us during that historic struggle. As a result of your constant daily efforts working with our representatives on the Judiciary Committee, as well as the whole Southern Group in the House, the bill was stalled for nearly a year. We regard this as quite an accomplishment in the House where the parliamentary procedure does not permit a filibuster. This long delay will, we feel sure, be very helpful to our Southern Senators in preventing, if possible, the passage of the bill before Congress adjourns.

The people of the South as well as the right-thinking people of the Nation at large are indebted to you for your valiant efforts in their and Mississippians, too, know that the "Civil Wrongs" fight is far from finished...that Senate amendments will send the infamous legislation back to the House of Representatives - right to the Committee on Rules, where your representative, Bill Colmer, is vice-chairman.

Even against the overwhelming majority of "Liberals" in the House, experienced, strategically-placed veterans like Smith and Colmer will continue an effective fight to thwart the "civil wrongs" steamroller by committee maneuvers.

No "rookie" congressman could do anything but cast his single vote against the bill. That wouldn't help you much.
